

Edmund J.D. Lee

Emeritus Professor
Pharmacology Department
YLL School of Medicine, NUS
SINGAPORE

Edmund Lee is a medical doctor trained in Internal Medicine, at the University of Singapore. He subsequently obtained his PhD in Clinical Pharmacology at the University of New South Wales, Australia. His research focus has been on understanding the environmental and biomedical bases for interindividual variability in drug response, and has published extensively in the areas of pharmacokinetics and pharmacogenetics.

Although retired, he remains on staff at the YLL School of Medicine as Emeritus Professor. He continues to serve on various professional panels at the Health Sciences Authority (HSA) and the Public Utilities Board (PUB). He is currently the Founder and CEO of an NUS start-up company, AICanChat Pte Ltd.